

Henry County Library System

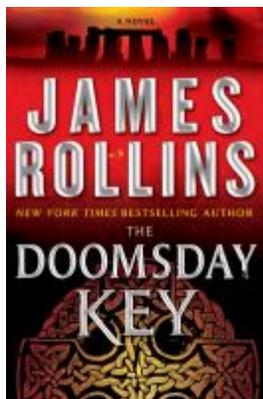

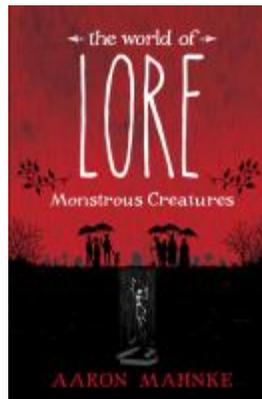

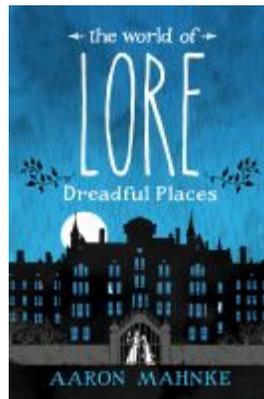

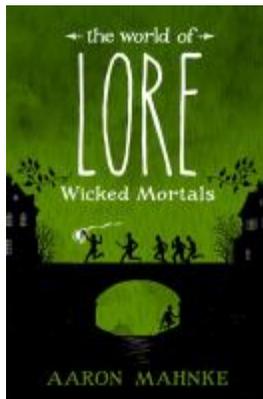

Your Destination for
Learning, Creating &
Connecting

Henry County Library Fall Staff Picks 2019

It's fall y'all. What could be better than reading a good book, drinking a pumpkin spice latte, or telling tales around a roaring fire? HCLS staff has some thrilling book recommendations for you that you can either check out at any of our local branches or request through PINES to be delivered at your local library. Here's our fall staff book picks:

The World of Lore by Aaron Mahnke

Check out these terrifying true tales of scary places, wicked people, and strange creatures. This series of three is based on Aaron Mahnke's hit podcast Lore. There is also an anthology TV series out now that filmed right up the road in Porterdale, Georgia. You may want to hide under your blanket for this series.

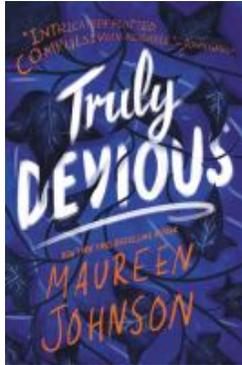

The Doomsday Key by James Rollins

This adventurous thriller is set across the globe from the scholarly halls of Princeton University to the African plains to Saint Peter's Basilica at the Vatican. Murders at the three disparate locations all have one thing in common: a pagan, Druidic cross has been burned into the victim's skin. Follow a commander and his team as they attempt to crack the case and discover what the doomsday key is. The book is also available as an EBOOK or Audiobook on Hoopla.

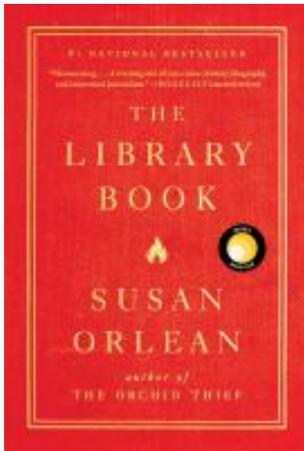

Henry County Library System

Your Destination for
Learning, Creating &
Connecting

Truly Devious by Maureen Johnson

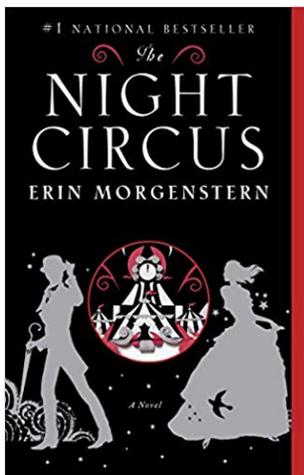

Let's head to Vermont this fall. The leaves are spectacular. This young adult mystery follows a girl who attends a private boarding school in Vermont. This true crime fan takes on a case of her own as she attempts to solve a murder and disappearance that happened at the same school in the 1930s. Read it or listen to the audiobook available on Hoopla.

The Library Book by Susan Orlean

This true crime reexamines the most devastating library fire in United States history. On April 29, 1968, the Los Angeles Public Library burned, and hundreds of thousands of books went up in smoke. Thus, the scene is set to discuss and debate the time tested institution of the public library and its value to the community in an ever-changing and increasingly electronic world. It makes the perfect fall read near a nice fire, properly contained within one's fireplace, of course.

If you would like to discuss this read, then please join our book club at Fortson Public Library on Wednesday, November 13, 2019, at 4:30 pm.

The Night Circus by Erin Morgenstern

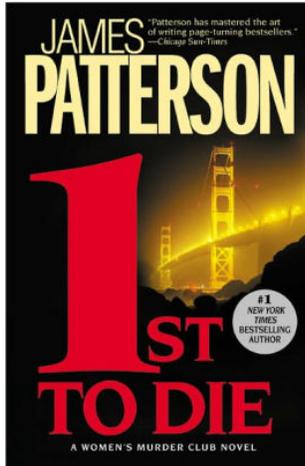

This adult fantasy novel takes place at a mysterious Victorian circus that only appears at night. Ancient rival magicians set their two best pupils against one another in a magical duel. But, what are the rules, and who determines the victor? Throw in a touch of romance, and things escalate rather quickly.

Want to share your opinion on this read? Come to our book discussion on this novel at the McDonough Public Library on Monday, November 18, 2019, at 6:00 pm.

Henry County Library System

Your Destination for
Learning, Creating &
Connecting

The Women's Murder Club Series by James Patterson

We're James Patterson fans here at HCLS. This spine-chilling mystery series is set in San Francisco. It follows four professional women – a detective, a reporter, a medical examiner, and a district attorney – as they solve homicide cases. Check out the series or listen to them as Audiobooks available through Hoopla and RBDigital. EBooks are also available on RBDigital.

So, what are you waiting for?

Ready to crack open one of these titles for the fall? Then, come check them out at HCLS. If they are not available, you can place a hold or request them from another PINES system. Some of these are available through Hoopla as an EBOOK or Audiobook, if you are interested. We hope you will fall into a good book.